

The Economic Crisis, the Global Economy, and the Economy We Want

Mike Prokosch (United for a Fair Economy and Jobs with Justice)

Adrian Boutureira (United for a Fair Economy)

Tim Costello (Global Labor Strategies)

Stephanie Luce (Solidarity)

Session 1--Tuesday April 21: How did they get us into this mess?

Session 2--Tuesday April 28: International Dimensions of the Crisis

Session 3--Tuesday May 5: Where's our leverage? What's our strategy?

All sessions 7:00-9:00 PM--Pizza served at 6:30; pre-register to insure space and pizza! Suggested Workshop fee--$5.00 (no one turned away!)

Encuentro 5 33 Harrison Ave 5th Floor Chinatown

(Red Line--Downtown Crossing; Orange Line--Chinatown)

This lively three-evening workshop will look at the ways wealth has been stripped from workers, the public sector, and productive corporations over the last 40 years; how that wealth created the Wall Street bubble; the global dimensions of the US economy and crisis; and how we can transform it.

This Will Not Be A Lecture. We will form human bar graphs, stack chairs in outrageous piles, sing Wobbly songs, and generally have a riotous time as we rigorously examine our sick economy and how to make it safe for working people.

Reserve your spot now! Call or Email Boston Radical Education Project repboston@gmail.com; 617-491-2876